Starrett Hickman New Councilman

The City Council Tuesday named Starrett Hickman, retired businessman as council replacement for Place 3, left vacant by the resignation of Richard W. Moseley.

Hickman took his place at the Council table following the selection. Other Cameron men nominated for the post were: C. E. Curtis, druggist; Lincoln Mondrik, former councilman; and Homer Allen, retired businessman.

Councilmen also approved a motion to authorize the City to complete mechanics liens and notes with property owners on E. 11th St., clearing the way for paving of the three block stretch from North Lee to North Jackson. And the Council authorized City Atty. Charlie Smith, Jr., to draw up a special ordinance that would give authority for the City to assess property along E. 11th St. Mayor Coleman Duncum said he would call a special Council meeting to approve the special ordinance to speed the process toward completing paving on E. 11th and North Lee, near Ben Milam School.

C. E. Curtis, of 405 E. 16th St., asked the Council to consider measures to hold down dust on E. 16th St.

Following his request for some kind of paving, Public Works Supt. J. B. Earle said he would recommend a special seal coat. Curtis also noted he thought residents along 16th St. would be interested in curbing if they knew a paving project would be approved.

In other action, Councilman John A. Smith reported final specifications for the purchase of a new 500-gallon fire truck for Cameron. The truck will be ordered in the next few weeks and paid for out of City truck fund and a budgeted $3,000 in October.

And the Council approved sending a letter of intent to the Milam County Health Unit, assuring City support of an annual $1440 stipend to the Unit. Other incorporated cities provide money for the Unit's operation.

The Council also: ONE — Heard an equalization report that showed a net gain of $155.00 in taxes after 103 property reductions were increased, 59 were dropped and 14 were taken from city tax rolls.

TWO — Renewed city utility franchises for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and Texas Power & Light Co.

$50,000 Library Seen

Board Approves Reports

Cameron Library planning took shape last week as general recommendations for a $50,000 facility were approved and a finance committee for Cameron and vicinity was named.

Meeting May 31 at First Methodist Fellowship Hall, 28 members of the Library Planning Board voted to plan publicity and financing campaigns for a September starting date.

Chairman E. A. Perrin reported that planning board members approved a two-page building committee report that recommended:

ONE — That all phases of planning, specifications and supervision of construction should be directed by a qualified architect who is a member of the American Institute of Architects.

TWO — That cost of the building including construction interior library equipment, professional fees and utility equipment be about $50,000. This figure was established through the review of needs to serve Cameron and vicinity and information from the American Library Association.

THREE — That an architect, when employed, be instructed to use his discretion in designing the building for the most feasible plans within the $50,000 scope. Plans will be subject to approval by the building committee before contracts are let and construction is begun.

Building committee chairman is Hilliard Thomas.

Following approval of the building committee report, the planning group voted to plan publicity and finance campaigns for a September drive starting date.

The publicity committee was to begin work on brochures and materials needed by both local and out-of-town finance committees following completion of an architect's sketch of the proposed library.

Finance Chairman Hinton Pruett named a 24-member Cameron finance committee which will begin planning as soon as publicity and building plans are completed.

Planning Board members also approved a publicity committee report which designated the following terms for contributors:

FRIENDS — Individuals, organizations or groups contributing up to $100.

CONTRIBUTORS — Those donating from $100 to $500.

SPONSORS — Persons donating from $500 to $1,000.

Books listing the names of all contributors shall be kept in the Cameron Library, the report recommended. And gifts presented in the name of persons to be memorialized will be listed in a book to be called a "Book of Remembrance."

Members of the Board discussed the timing of the campaign and Central Texas rains were concentrated in the Waco vicinity with rains of a half-inch to an inch reported south of that area.

Residents in the Ben Arnold area again reported rain over the weekend. And the Hanover vicinity received rain up to two inches Monday, The Herald learned.

Fund Request May Aid Little River

An Associated Press story on Texas water projects brought hope for $300,000 worth of federal funds to plan channel rectification on Little River after July 1.

Appearing Tuesday before a U. S. House appropriations subcommittee, Cong. W. R. Poage headed a group asking for $800,000 instead of a budgeted $500,000 to start construction on the Stillhouse Hollow Dam on Lampasas River. Appearing with Cong. Poage were Byron Skelton and Frank Mayborn of Temple.

This followed an assurance made by Col. R. P. West, district engineer of U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, that he would recommend $300,000 for planning rectification of channels on Little River.

He told a group of Milam County landowners along Little River he would recommend that $300,000 of the projected $500,000 budget for Stillhouse Hollow Dam be used for Little River channel rectification.

If allowed, the $800,000 budget would likely include the start of two-year engineer planning for Little River rectification in Milam County.

During the Washington hearing Tuesday, Texas congressmen and representatives of areas interested in water projects asked for approval of $45,000,000 in state-wide projects.

The $300,000 request for the Stillhouse Hollow dam project was part of $1.5 millions in additional funds requested for Texas water projects.

Col. West and Little River property owners discussed the problem of overflow water from Belton Reservoir in a lengthy March meeting. A Little River Water Conservation and Flood Control Association was organized in April to work toward improved channels.

Col. West said in March that his recommendation would include a request for Little River channel improvement since the water of Lampasas River flows into Little River below the proposed site of Stillhouse Hollow Dam.

Volunteers Work Hours In Water

A Staff Story

After a three-hour search, Cameron volunteer firemen and National Guardsmen found the drowned body of Mary Ruth Lister, 6, about midnight Tuesday in a tank on the Buster Griffin farm, near Yarrelton.

The child is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Lister, of Yarrelton. The Negro family lives on the Griffin farm.

Sheriff Carl Black received a call from Buster Griffin about 9 a.m. Tuesday, reporting the child's absence.

He alerted the Cameron Fire Department, and Cameron National Guardsmen, who were meeting at the Guard Armory Tuesday night.

Volunteer firemen led by Louis Krenk and Eugene Mitchan and Guardsmen dove under water for almost three hours before the child was dragged to the surface.

Joe L. Vybiral, administrator of the Milam Guard unit, brought his boat to the scene. After dragging the tank twice, the volunteers found the child.

Sheriff Black reconstructed this story of the tragedy:

Mary Ruth had gone to the tank with her sister, Joyce Mae, 3, to get water and was playing around the tank when she fell into it.

The child's parents were chopping cotton in the afternoon. That evening they returned to their house to find the 3-year-old child alone. She told her parents that Mary Ruth was in the tank. She was last seen at 4 p. m.

Griffin called Black about 9 a.m. Tuesday. Firemen and Guardsmen were alerted.

Members of the National Guard and Cameron firemen searched the 15-foot, brackish water for almost three hours for the girl's body. She was located when the boat was brought in and the bottom was dragged.

Sheriff Black commended the rescue efforts of the two groups.

Services were held 4 p. m. Wednesday at Dorsey Funeral Home for Mary Ruth Lister. Burial was in Cameron Cemetery.

Abilene Man, 27 Gets Eight Years

Mack Charles Miller, 27, Negro, of Abilene, has been sentenced to eight years in the state penitentiary upon conviction of burglarizing the Highway Package store in Thorndale.

Miller Friday entered a plea of guilty to the burglary charge before Judge W. C. Wallace, in Milam District Court.

Dist. Atty. Jack Prescott said Miller had taken $350 in assorted liquors from the Thorndale store and transported it to Abilene.

Prescott said it was the third time that the Thorndale store, operated by Minnie Becker, had been burglarized.

Miller gave Sheriff Carl Black directions on locating a radio missing from the store. And Miller's own tire tool was found at the Thorndale store. The tool had been missing since a previous break-in in Thrall, Prescott said.

Prescott said Miller apparently made the break-in at Thorndale by himself.

Miller was indicted April 25 by a Milam Grand Jury on a charge of burglary.

Milam Committee Plans Meeting

By J. D. Moore
Milam County Agent

Fred Elliott, specialist from A & M College, will discuss cotton defoliants and desiccants at a meeting to be held at the Sharp School on the night of July 21, according to Wilburn Beckhousen, chairman of the Milam county 7-Step Cotton Committee.

The meeting is planned in advance of the cotton harvesting and should be of important to those making plans for the machine harvesting.

Desiccant and defoliant dealers as well as farmers are urged to make plans now to attend this meeting.

Thorndale Community Cotton Insect and Demonstration Tour Made Last Week - Erwin Fuesel and Arthur Thies, farmers of the Thorndale community, and members of the county 7-Step cotton committee, planned a tour of the Thorndale community to check on cotton insect control work and to observe other demonstrations.

All farms visited had applied two applications of poison and good insect control was in effect. The older cotton in hte early squaring stage and is making good growth. Younger cotton looks good.

Humicite Demonstration Studied on the Walter Iselt Farm - Humicite is a liquid fertilizer being tested under maize and cotton on Mr. Walter Iselt's farm. The Humicite test is on land known to be highly susceptible to cotton root rot. Manufacturers of fertilizer claim it will control cotton root rot.

Besides the cotton test, Iselt has a test using Humicite under maize as compared to an application of 16-20-0 fertilizer. The maize fertilizer with normal growth and the adjoining test where Humicite was used in not much above knee high and looks disappointing. Yields will be checked on all the test plots.

Dairy Industry Contributes Much To U. S. People

COLLEGE STATION — The dairy industry is big; it's essential, modern diversified and has stability, said A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist, today as Texas and the nation begins the silver anniversary of June Dairy Month.

Dairying, he added, is the greatest single source of farm income in America. One out of every five dollars in cash receipts from farm products comes from dairying. The dairy industry, Meekma noted, utilizes milk production from 17 million cows on more than a million of the nation's farms. The milk is processed in approximately 35,000 dairy plants and the equivalent of 60 billion quarts, in the form of fluid milk and its products, is distributed annually to the nation's consumers. Sales of milk and dairy cattle for beef purposes in 1959, Meekma said, amounted to more than $6½ billion and represented 19.9 percent of all cash farm receipts for that year.

The dairy industry is essential, he added, because milk is nature's most nearly perfect food and the nation's favorite. Nutritionally, milk and milk products provide from 20 to 25 percent of the essential food nutrients for only 15 - 18 percent of the food budget, he said.

Dairy plants are marvels of engineering efficiency. Processing is done under the most exacting sanitary conditions in order to give consumers food of the highest quality, he said.

lity, he said. Besides gleaming stainless steel plant equipment, the dairy industry is a regular customer for hundreds of millions of dollars worth of all types of processing equipment, containers, flavorings, chemicals, trucks, conveyers, electric motors, office equipment, machinery and supplies plus hundreds of other products. Consumers, Meekma said, should take advantage of opportunities offered during Dairy Month to learn more about the nation's great dairy industry. He suggests a visit to a local dairy farm and a processing plant for that look behind the scenes at an industry which contributes so much to our well - being.

Miss Nancy Moody and Miss Diane Provasek of Cameron were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Stidham, the early part of the week.

4-H Club Notes

By Pat C. Garner
Ass't Milam County Agent

There will be some good hogs lost this summer due to overheating. Your hog could be one of them. However, if you follow proper management, this will not happen.

What are some good management practices? One of the most important ones is keeping hogs cool in hot weather. This may be done by providing a sand bed covered with brush arbor. A sprinkler should be placed in the sand bed to cool the hogs on hot days.

Avoid infestations of too much worms by worming your hogs periodically. All hogs should be wormed about a week after they are purchased. If you have to move your hogs, it should be done in early morning or late afternoon.

Be sure that you have plenty of clean fresh water out at all times. The water troughs should be in the shade. Remember, animals do not like warm water any better than you do.

Keep your pens and facilities clean and the manure cleaned up. Poor sanitation causes diseases and parasites to build up. Good sanitation prevents disease build up.

Good management combined with proper feeding contributes toward a profitable swine program.

A young gilt weighing about seventy pounds should be fed one pound of protein supplement and enough grain to insure proper growth.

A good lush green pasture should be provided for young breeding swine. Pastures provide many of the vitamins and minerals neces-

Out Of Vienna What?

An appraisal of President Kennedy's conferences with Khrushchev, De Gaulle and Macmillan is likely premature so soon after their completion.

It appears, however, that President Kennedy has succeeded in:

ONE - Strengthening the West's position in Berlin by drawing De Gaulle's assurance of a French interest in protecting West Berlin. . . .

TWO - Buttrressing a Western (or U.S.) power center in Berlin and balancing the Communist's obvious dominant position in Laos . . .

THREE - Learning that Khrushchev is willing to concede the element of time in a Berlin showdown (to Khrushchev's disadvantage) for an open door policy on discussing a neutral Laos and nuclear disarmament (to Khrushchev's advantage).

FOUR - Extracting Khrushchev's belief in U. S. willingness to intercede, yet to continue negotiations when hope exists for improving Western position in Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Mr. K flew directly home to Moscow, bypassing Berlin where observers thought he might visit while in the West. But President Kennedy went to a meeting with Macmillan in London (having only come from the De Gaulle conference) implying the initiative for the time was with the West.

Communism has shifted its militant policies of revolution for several years from Europe to other areas -- principally because Western Europe has recouped from World War II devastation . . . So much so, in fact, that Khrushchev has not forced the Berlin issue, the most direct threat to Communist domination of Satellite countries.

Thus there are the attacks of Communism in Southeast Asia, Cuba and Africa. The genius of World Communism at present is in its ability to wrench control even under the nose of Democracy, Cuba being the best example.

Communist policy of "grassroots" infiltration is most successful in Asia and Latin America, where illiteracy and poverty can be funneled by skilled Communist politicians into backwoods revolt, both indefensible by Western military or diplomatic tactics. It is much like the British Redcoats fighting the French or the American Colonials in the 1700's. They fought with precision and honor in European ranks and order, but could not find the enemy fighting "Indian fashion" from behind every tree and bush.

Perhaps President Kennedy has convinced Khrushchev of an American fervor, being bolstered in other Western nations, capable of fighting openly at the conference table or "Indian style" in the bush of several continents.

Little was said of the two Mr. K's proings into the Communist attitude of imposing a veto power on any world negotiation. Khrushchev has threatened the UN and muddled all other negotiations with the West, stalling for the time when the Communist Bloc exceeds the influence of the West. That time is at hand or, with the creation of more neutral nations, is fast approaching.

So waiting for a showdown in Berlin, a real thorn in Communist flesh, would mean that Khrushchev feels negotiation is in his favor.

Knowing this, President Kennedy will continue to press for immense and immediate development of foreign alignments to deal with Communism's growth factors -- illiteracy and poverty.

The invisible spectre of Communist China must have been felt. Both Khrushchev and Kennedy are indirectly accountable to Mao; he, faced with starving tens of millions, is not really accountable to anyone. He would press for open gains in Asia. Both Khrushchev and Kennedy feel that is the case of last resort in any part of the world. Otherwise, there would have been no Summit in Vienna.

Forty-Six Scouts End Camp With Flag Ceremony

Forty - six Brownie and Girl Scouts ended five days of summer day camp last Friday with a flag lowering ceremony at Led-better Park, site of the weeks campout.

Mrs. Lester Williams, camp director for the past four years, told the Herald she had received excellent assistance from her staff of workers and that the girls had thoroughly enjoyed the camp.

The day camp program has been an annual event for years and its main objective is to familiarize girls, ages 7 - 12 with the outdoors.

Every day was started with a flag raising ceremony and the pledge of allegiance to the flag. During the day the girls would do craftwork, cook their own meals, sing, play games and become acquainted with outdoor life.

The camp would get underway at 8:30 in the morning and then break up about 2:30 every afternoon. Swimming was enjoyed by the girls at the close of the day's activities.

Mrs. Williams, Girl Scout worker for 25 years, expressed her appreciation of the city and co-operation of her staff that included six girls which served as program aids.

Other members of her staff were Mrs. David Shapiro, Mrs. Louis Wilson, Mrs. Cora Mae Cochran, Mrs. Ann Meek, Mrs. Wilma Noland, Mrs. Bessie Jeter, Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Marie Wilkins, and Mrs. Glen Fleming.

Each girl was charged a fee of two dollars to attend the camp and additional funds were raised by selling Girl Scout cookies.

Mrs. Williams told the Herald that additional workers would be needed next year and that of the 100 registered Brownies and Girl Scouts, only 46 were able to attend the camp due to the lack of workers.

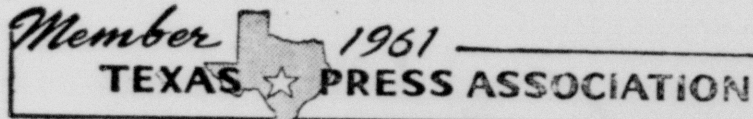

This Girl Scout district is under the Texas Colorado Lakes Council with headquarters in Austin.

Period Now For Trying Democracy

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — From now until July 10 will be a period of testing how representative democracy works in Texas.

Legislature is to re-convene July 10 to make a fresh stab at writing a tax bill to raise some $350,000,000 for the next two years. Gov. Price Daniel has urged Texans to give the legislators and him their views on how the matter should be handled.

Governor Daniel is strongly opposed to the adoption of any sales tax plan designed to raise the major portion of this needed revenue. He used his influence in the regular session to block a move in this direction.

"But" said the governor, "if this is really what a majority of the people want, I don't see how I can go on fighting it."

He believes, however, that a very limited sales tax, which he terms "selective excise taxes", on only more expensive items, with the balance to be raised from gas pipeline taxes and increased taxes, would be more fair and more acceptable to most Texans.

Only bill which came close to passing the Legislature was one in which the main money-raising feature was a retail sales tax on items costing 25 cents and more, with food, medicine and farm necessities exempted. It also levied increased gas and corporation franchise taxes. Speaker James Turman cast the crucial vote that prevented the bill's being sent to the governor.

Actually, the difference between the governor and those voting for the sales tax "package" is mostly one of degree. Governor Daniel grants the need for some sales (or excise) taxes, but feels that they should be stringently limited. A majority of the Legislature cast votes indicating they felt Texas

Conference Set For Town, Country

COLLEGE STATION — "The Enduring Values of Town and Country Life" is the theme for the 16th annual Town and Country Church Conference scheduled for June 19-21. All sessions will be held in the Memorial Student Center at Texas A & M College.

According to Reagan Brown, rural sociologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and a member of the Conference Committee, attendance is expected to be near 200.

Two out-of-state speakers will be featured and each will make three program appearances. They are Dr. A. C. Bartholomew, Professor of Church and Community, Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and Dr. C. H. Hamilton, North Carolina State College rural sociologist. Other speakers will include prominent church and lay leaders from over Texas and also Texas A & M College personnel.

as has reached the point where only a broad-based "growth" tax, such as the sales tax, can rise enough money to meet the state's increasing needs.

Now it is the people's turn to say what they think. If enough speak up, the legislature will have little difficulty in deciding what to do when it reconvenes July 10.

At that late hour, getting broad agreement in the Legislature will be more important than passing a bill that suits the governor. Bills passed by only a simple majority cannot become effective until 90 days after the session ends, but bills passed by a two-thirds majority of both houses can take effect immediately. That late in the summer, the legislature will need to get a two-thirds vote for immediate effect so there will be money and authorization to keep the state going after the new fiscal year begins September 1.

And a two-thirds majority is also sufficient to override a governor's veto.

Oil On Troubled Waters
A number of lawmakers had their "backs up" before the governor made his statewide "report to the people" after the regular session closed. But the governor's message smoothed some feathers.

Many lawmakers expected Daniel to roast the Legislature for its failure to take care of money matters during the 140-day session. They had their hot replies all ready for press release.

Instead, Governor Daniel adroitly praised the lawmakers as one of the hardest working legislatures he had ever seen. He even singled out for kind words some leaders who had opposed his program.

It was those infernal lobbyists who were to blame, said the governor. He described hordes of lobbyists, choking the hallways and bothering members while they were in session.

Now it's the lobbyist who are riled.

Governor Daniel has announced that he will name a new citizen's committee to study the state's fiscal problems and make recommendations before the special session begins.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

In my younger days, I entered upon the editorship of a paper. A few years before that, a man resented something that was published so he entered the office and gave the editor a whipping, which was not too difficult as the visitor was huge. He was also reputed to be right handy with a gun.

A few months after I took the job, he walked in -- the first time he had been there since his victory over my predecessor. He looked as though he thought he would be unwelcome. I knew why he was there because I had heard that his father had died during the night. Before the visitor could say anything, I said, "Let me express my sympathy."

Tears came in his eyes and he said, "Will you put something in the paper about my dad?"

"Of course -- have a seat and tell me about his life."

After the paper came out, with a full column on the front page, we were friends from then on. He said, "I don't know how to thank you. If anybody ever gives you any trouble, just let me know."

I assured him he would be informed right away if such a situation should develop. Fortunately, it never did.

In face there has been only one man that I felt worried about -- and he was him.

It is an ironical thing that, although Bob Burns was one of the most popular entertainers of his day, he was never the subject of an article in a national magazine -- nor has his life been the subject of a book -- nor were his comical stories about his kinkles ever published in a volume. (Or at least an examination of reference books failed to disclose that any of these recognitions have been bestowed.)

Burns had an audience of millions over radio in the 1930's; he was the star of several motion picture comedies and his daily humor feature appeared in a large number of newspapers. He would chuckingly relate his latest story about a "cousin" or an aunt.

Philosopher Says Efficiency Is Not The Answer For Small Farms Or Big Cities

Dear editor:

I realize that while whole countries are disappearing these days, worrying over the disappearance of the so-called family-type farm seems like a waste of time if not a misapplication of thought, but according to an article I read in a newspaper last night, a lot of people are concerned about this matter.

But I'm not as interested in the actual disappearance of the small farm as I am in what these people think will bring it about.

According to them, inefficiency is the cause. The small farmer has got to get more efficient if he expects to stay on his farm, they argue.

I don't know about this. In my case, I don't expect to get any more efficient, and I don't expect to move off this Johnson grass farm. People confuse efficiency with bigness. To me, a four-row cultivator is something you can work your land with in half the time it took with a two-row outfit, but to other people it's something you can work twice as much land with in the same long hours.

Efficiency can be overdone. For example, in this same newspaper I was reading last night I noticed that a contest was held in New York the other day to see which was the fastest way to get across midtown Manhattan. The results showed you can cross this center of American culture and efficiency about as fast in a horse and buggy as you can in a car, and even on foot you won't be far behind.

Efficiency has produced automobiles in such numbers they're becoming useless in big cities and cities themselves have become so efficient they're unmanageable. Airplanes have become so efficient and numerous they have to circle around an airport an hour to find a place to land. Government has become so efficient the tax payers can't afford it.

It was efficiency that produced a bomb that'll kill a hundred thousand times more people than the cannon ball.

The way it looks to me, inefficiency is the hope of mankind and the small farm is the last refuge of this style of operating. The last thing the world should be doing is coming out here and telling me how to get more efficient. In my case, it might not matter, but some farmers might listen.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

BUCKET SEATS ALONE DO NOT A MONZA MAKE

■ Gee! ■ Little did we know, when we introduced the Corvair Monza last year, that we were starting a Big Thing. We just thought it would be pleasant if you could buy a car that treats you, the driver, like you want to be treated. ■ The bucket seats, of course, are the most obvious evidence of our desire to please you. But they're not the most important thing. No sir. What's really vital is the way a Monza handles—something nobody in the U.S. has yet copied. Or can copy. Because Corvair is the only rear-engined car made in this country, and you know what that means: steering light as thistledown. (You even park this one more easily, it steers so briskly.) Beautifully balanced braking—the car stays level even under panic braking, which we hope you'll never have to do. Traction and more traction, so you don't become a stick-in-the-mud. The kind of cornering that's sheer joy to experience. ■ You get more: a fully independent suspension that blots out road shocks before they can ruffle you. Clean, crisp styling. Thoroughgoing economy, from purchase price to operating cost. ■ You're not going to be satisfied with bucket seats alone, are you?

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

One of the most indulged in -- yet least publicized -- pleasures of outdoor living is that of crabbing in the surf, or in the many bays that indent the Texas coastline.

A great many folks go in for crabbing every summer. Actually, it's more of a recreation or pastime than a sport.

Crabbing is simple, inexpensive and a pleasant way to while away a few hours without a great deal of physical exertion.

Its real popularity however probably stems from the fact that crabs are an epicure's delight.

We'll get to the eating of them a little later. First, you have to catch them!

All you need is a ball of string, a dip net, a container, and some bait. A ball of kite twine will do for the string. You can purchase a dip net from about a dollar, and your container can be an old tow sack.

The bait is quite inexpensive. A few chunks of horsemeat, some old fish heads or perhaps the remains of Sunday's roast will do the trick.

Crabbing is best in the summer. In the winter the crabs dig down you'll find them wherever you find salt water -- in the surf, ship channels, boat basins, bays, bayous and even bar ditches. And you can catch them in deep water as well as in shallow water.

Catching One-at-a-Time
Cut off a piece of string eight or ten feet in length. Tie it to a stake on the bank or shove a stake into the bottom a little ways out from shore. Fasten the bait to the free end of the string and toss it out.

If the bait has a lot of fat on it, you may have to tie on a weight of some sort to sink it to the bottom. You won't catch crabs on top of the water.

Put out about a half dozen lines and leave them undisturbed for about 15 minutes so the bait will attract the crabs in the area.

When you run your lines, take in the string slowly. If you feel a weight tugging, there's a crab feeding on the meat. Inch the line in slowly until you can see the crab. Then scoop it up with the dip net.

Proper way to scoop is to have the net under water before you see the crab. Sudden movements or a quick jerk on the line will cause the crab to let go and sink back into the depths. Move the dip net slowly until it is just a foot or two from the crab. Then quickly move the net under the crab and scoop up.

Dump the crab into the container and go to the next line. Crabbing is just that simple.

Drop Nets Improve Yield

You can multiply your catches by using drop nets. A drop net is a metal hoop two or three feet in diameter with a net in the middle. The drop net has a bridge similar to that found on a kite. You just attach a length of rope to the middle of the drop net and then the entire rig is dropped into the water.

When you run a set of drop nets, you pull the nets in swiftly so that the pressure will force the crabs into the bottom of the net. During big crab runs, it's common to catch three, four or even a half dozen crabs every time you pull up the net.

With their big claws and sharply edged shells, crabs look rugged. They are rugged too. Those claws can inflict painful bites, therefore care must be used in picking up crabs. You can grab them by the hind flippers and carry them safely.

Crabmeat can spoil quickly, so take good care of your catch.

If the crabs are in a sack, put the sack in shallow water. If in tub or basket put the container in the shade and covered it with a wet sack. Any crabs that die should be thrown away immediately.

Crabs can be taken home, boiled alive and then picked. Or you can rough dress them on the spot. Frankly, rough dressing on the spot beats taking all the mess home.

Rough Dressing Crabs

In rough dressing, break off or snap off the claws. Pry the belly plate loose. Then grasp the body firmly in one hand, the shellback in the other hand and pull apart. A hard brush can be used to clean out the cavity. But scissors or grass clippers will neatly clip off the crabs fingers.

Federals Win Skirmish Confederates Retreat

By Robert Stonedale
BEVERLY, Virginia, June 3, 1961 - An aggressive Union force under the overall command of Federal General George B. McClellan of Ohio struck boldly in western Virginia early today, and routed a small force of Confederate troops near the outpost town of Philippi. The poorly trained Virginia volunteers under the command of Colonel George A. Porterfield were severely whipped in the engagement, suffering 15 casualties and the loss of most of their arms and equipment.
